

WEEKLY ONLINE SAFETY TIP FOR PARENTS!

What do you post?

Sometimes, as adults, we forget what is classed as personal information and how easily it can be put in the hands of the wrong person. Try to think about these questions before posting next time:

- Are you posting a picture of your child that could reveal information? e.g. school uniform or their full name
- Are you talking about where and when they are going on a trip / holiday? It would be better to post after the event.
- Are you posting potentially embarrassing/inappropriate pictures of your child to everyone? This could cause problems for your child in the future e.g. bullying or negative body image.
- Are you posting images with other children in the background? (This may seem harmless, but there could be a child who is adopted and not allowed on Social Media)
